FOREWORD

The World's Fair, with its many exciting, different, educational, and enjoyable features, has been chosen as the theme for the 1959 VALHALLA.

We, the staff, feel that our life at Sunnyslope High School, as depicted and recorded by the yearbook, is similar to the varied interests at the Fair.

We, at SHS, have four main interest areas and at the Fair, activities were divided into four main groups. They are Instructional, Physical, Organizational, and Recreational. Throughout the book we will endeavor to show you some of the activities at the Fair and their relationship to our activities in high school.

Dedication

Now at the end of our school year, as we pause to count our many happy memories, we think of the late Betty Kay Ross, who with her smiling face and shining courage proved an inspiration and a symbol of strong Christian faith to us all. Betty attended Sunnyslope High for three years under an unusual handicap but in that time she reaped many honors and awards in various fields as a result of her well-planned labors. The Valhalla staff of 1959, humbly dedicates this book in fond memory to an outstanding Viking, Betty Ross.

At the entrance to the World's Fair there is a large modern building called the Grand Palais. On the front of the building is a glowing facade with a peace dove emblazoned upon it. The building stands before a quiet pool in the forests of Belgium. The reception building is to the fair as our instructions are to our lives at Sunnyslope. The instructions we receive serve as the reception hall, or orientation center, for the rest of our lives.

For a year now we have been the proud Junior Class of Sunnyslope High. Through the years to come we can look back and truly say it was a wonderful year. Remember the Prom which we sponsored for the out-going seniors? . . .

And the Junior slave sale to raise money for the Prom, and the constant struggle for passing grades in American History? But all in all, we have had our work and fun and now we move on to our last year of high school. We will soon be seniors and proud leaders of Sunnyslope High, with tradition and school spirit to be upheld.

As sophomores, we have become acquainted with the many traditions of Sunnyslope High, realizing we are a living part of them. The novelty of class yells, pep assemblies, formals, and parties has worn off—but the spirit is growing with each experience. We have learned to appreciate our student government and our freedom of action and self-expression. Now we look forward to future years at a school where we can compete, better ourselves, and achieve as those before us have done.

A Christmas pose.

The year began with anxiety, nervousness, anticipation, and the thrill that must come to any Freshman. The FRESHMEN can stop and look back on a year that was chuck full of activities and exciting events.

Do you remember how backward we were in giving the traditional school yell at the first assembly of the year? Soon with encouragement from their upper-classmen, we grew familiar with the school and participated in many assemblies, sports and class events. Now, with these memories, the class of 1962 may look forward to our remaining years at Sunnyslope High School.

Our contribution to a needy family.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENT

Alan Harris and Ruedi Hoegger

A vital part of our campus life at Sunnyslope High School has been concerned with the Foreign Exchange students that have been provided by the American Field Service.

Participating in this program this year have been the above students. Alan Harris, a Sunnyslope student, spent the summer in Switzerland and Ruedi Hoegger, a native of Switzerland, has spent the year attending our high school.

Alan has brought us much insight into the life of the Swiss people and has broadened our understanding and appreciation of our foreign neighbors.

Ruedi has become a very real part of our school life. He has taken part in athletics, music, classroom activities, our student governing body, and has endeared himself to the student body and the faculty. Yes, we will deeply miss Ruedi and we hope that he will carry back with him to Switzerland his observations of America and Sunnyslope, so that he will also broaden the Swiss peoples' understanding of our country.

The physical section of our book is represented by a scene of the Russian Pavilion. Shown at the entrance to the building is a twenty-five foot statue of a Bolshevik worker and one of a Russian peasant. These strong people, typical of the hardy race found in the Northern part of Europe, are excellent athletes and strong competitors for world championships. Other features of the Soviet Pavilion were the satellites, Sputnik I and II; huge pieces of milling machinery; a real oil derrick; a TU-114 turbo jet plane; and other industrial equipment.

Viking defensemen converge on Ram back on way to triumph.

Sunnyslope's first win of the season came as a surprise to all. The Vikings, a Class A school, defeated the double A Washington Rams by a score of 18-13. Arch rivals of ours on the athletic field, Washington was overcome by the hard driving and team work exhibited by the Vikings. A pass from Ron Wise to Bill Mattingly awarded the 'Slope gridders their first TD. The second was made by Terry Appell on an excellent run. The third and final touchdown for the Vikings came in the last 25 seconds of play when Wise shot a 35 yard pass into the hands of end Jimmy Bryant. Good blocking and tackling really was the decisive difference in the game's outcome. Outstanding defensemen were Ted Christy, Co-Captain, Cliff Heberlein, end, and Russ Formica, guard.

Homecoming, November 14, 1959, was a happy time in Viking Land. Sunnyslope's gridders defeated the Kingman Bulldogs 33-13. Fast thinking and good tackling payed off in this game. The Vikings held the Bulldogs scoreless the first quarter while they went ahead and made two touchdowns. The first was made by Bill Mattingly on a handoff from Ron Wise; both conversions were good. At the half the score stood 14-6. A pass play from Wise to Harris again scored for the Vikings in the third quarter. The conversion was good. Again the Vikings scored on a short run by Wise. Alan Harris made the fifth TD of the evening. The three conversions were kicked by Richard Bonheimer.

Organizational

Under the Automium at the World's Fair stands the American Pavilion. This airy-circular building designed by architect Edward Stone spans 340 feet and has a central pool surrounded by growing trees. The building's spacious design is lighted through an exterior grill. Among the many interesting exhibits are an IBM Ramac electronic brain giving historical information in 10 languages, a daily fashion show giving people a look at the latest U. S. fashions, a scale model of Philadelphia, a Walt Disney movie, "Cinarama", and murals of the American scene. Just as the organization of the American Pavilion, depicts the various phases of American life, so our organizational section depicts the various phases of school life.

From the Editor

Fellow Students:

Throughout the past year, I have found as editor of the 1959 Valhalla, the many roles the yearbook plays in our lives. To the staff, it is their brain-child, the fruit of their labor, their production. To the faculty and administration, it is sometimes a necessary evil, to the photography department, it is a chance to show their skills, to the art department, it is a place to try new techniques and styles. But though these are some parts the Valhalla enacts in the drama of our school life, the book is for the students, especially the seniors, and we hope it will serve as a treasury of memories throughout your lives. As the World's Fair demonstrated and displayed the talents and ingeniousness of the world, we feel the Valhalla shows to its readers, the outstanding achievements and talents found at Sunnyslope High School.

This year held many joys and sorrows for me in producing the book and I would like to gratefully thank the staff, Jim Grose, Tim Hoag, Sue Freeman McDonough, Gerry Schultz, Carole Sickafoose and Myrtle Pitts for sharing them with me. I would also like to thank our Art-Editor, Linda White, and her assistant, Paul Case, for their hard work in producing this year's book. Also special thanks to the whole Photography Department for coming through with the necessary pictures when we needed them most. The faculty and administration have proven very affable and tolerant and Mr. Kempff and Mrs. Griffith, in the business office, have also served us well. To these people, I am deeply grateful. But to Mr. Howard McConnell, our sponsor, my heart goes out in the deepest thanks and appreciation for the work and assistance he gave so freely.

I consider it one of the greatest honors in my high school career to have been able to serve you as Valhalla editor. I hope that the time I spent working with the staff can be multiplied over and over and the product measured in terms of enjoyment you get looking back at your annual.

On the part of the staff, I would like to wish the faculty and administration the continued admiration and respect of our student body; the future classes at SHS, a happy, fruitful quest for education; and the graduating seniors, all the success and prosperity in the world as they pursue their future vocations.

Sincerely yours,

Jackie Baker

The central building at the World's Fair was the Automium. This structure represents the atom of helium. The nine globes are reached through stairways in the cylindrical connecting rods. In one of the globes is a restaurant. Since the automium will become a permanent structure in Brussels, we have chosen it to represent the lasting effect of recreation in our high school days, to our later years.

JUNIOR - SENIOR PROM

We were in heaven for four hours, May 2, as the junior class presented Paradise in Pink, Junior-Senior Prom for 1959 at the Women's Club of Phoenix. We floated through a pink cloud and landed in the midst of a wonderland of glittering clouds, stars, and floating angel hair. When we left, we took with us not only the happy memories of the evening, but also the happy memories of our years in high school.

I have to finish this column.

It sure has been

were a long warmer. I can vouch for that, but otherwise you are a great guy.

What a chod you are - making big Annapolis - Remember to salute the catsup and say sir to the potatoes, etc.
I can't be positive but you'd better have your wheelbarrow tonight (not for shoveling) and your stilts. I can honestly say that your opinions of yourself
are not conceited - I sure hope our friendship won't end here because I think we can always be good friends. (choke!) I want to sincerely wish you the best of luck

smartest studs in the senior class; and a good head
too! Good luck in college

I could wish you
luck but that wouldn't help. I could say
you're not a "manic"
depressive" because
that would be
telling the truth,
and I could stop
writing but just
to be contrary, I won't;

Seriously, though,
I know you are
capable of doing anything
you set your mind
to and only wish
I had your ambition.

Good luck, good by,
I hope to keep in
contact with you.
(notice the little
phases. I did wish you luck after all. Maybe you may need it.)

It's been great knowing
you and I hope you
